

HISTORY & FOLKLORE

From Illustrated Press of Liberty County, Thursday, August 15, 1963 – B.E. Fry of Moss Hill, a few miles north of Hardin, is in the honey business. Mr. Fry, at right, has worked with bees a number of years. W.R. Johnson's camera has caught several remarkable photographs of his operation.

Mr. Fry cut this short section of a bee tree from a point several feet above the ground in the original tree and set it on a base. He mounted a beehive on top of it and it now functions as home for a colony of bees as before.
