

HISTORY & FOLKLORE

From Illustrated Press of Liberty County, Thursday, September 24, 1970 –
Liberty Volunteer Fire Department has a lot more fancy equipment now, but this 1961 scene shows the old Sea-grave fire truck still popular with the firemen. It was some 25 or 30 years old, but in tiptop shape. In the picture, Sim DeBlanc has gathered a group of young auxiliary firemen together.

From Illustrated Press of Liberty County, Thursday, April 11, 1963 –
Dayton FFA boys whitewash the livestock barns in preparation for the forthcoming three-day rodeo and stock show, May 2, 3, and 4. The annual show, which initiates the rodeo season in this area, continues to grow each year. At right is Bill Johnson, recently returned to the Dayton school system as assistant ag teacher. Just in the picture at left is practice teacher Lloyd Klaus, of Roundtop, just west of Brenham.
